Research Bulletin

OF THE

National Education Association

INDEX TO VOLUME XXI, 1943

Acceleration: attendance and discipline problems decreased, 72; of slow learners, 72
Acknowledgment: of special assistance in preparation of Research Bulletin on "High-School Methods with Slow Learners," 87
Administrative and supervisory officers: distribution of salaries paid in 1942–43, 16–17; median salaries paid, 20–21
Amherst, Massachusetts, Six-Year High School: provisions for slow learners, 68

Bennett, Margaret E.: referred to, 86
Bergstresser, J. L.: referred to, 86
Billett, Roy O.: referred to, 86
Blair, Glenn M.: referred to, 86
Brooklyn, New York, Bay Ridge High School: curriculum for slow learners, 70
Buros, Oscar K.: referred to, 63, 86
Burt, Cyril: referred to, 61, 86

Columbus, Ohio, Mound Junior High School: provisions for mentally and physically handicapped pupils, 68–69
Cost of living: indexes of, 101, 115
Creamer, Daniel: referred to, 112
Curriculum: and instruction—school provisions for slow learners, 76–83; for slow learners, 84; frequency of changes in, 41; general scope and character of the curriculum for slow learners, 76–78; improvement in certain school departments, 50–51; in individual schools for slow learners, 76–77; instruction in specific curriculum areas, 78–83; need for a modified school program, 84; number of school systems making changes in, 41; percent of school systems making changes in, 41; readjustments in wartime, 41–42. See also Slow learners in high school

Detroit, Michigan, Northern High School: provisions for exceptional children, 69–70
Douglass, Harl A.: referred to, 86
Dunlop, Florence S.: referred to, 86

Education: expenditures for, 105-106; should advance, not retreat, 94
Elicker, Paul E.: referred to, 86
Enrolment: drop in high-school, one year after war, 30; little change in elementary, one year after war, 30
Expenditures: consumer expenditures for goods and services, 106, 107, 117; for public education for certain years, 118; school expenditures, 1941–42, 119
Extracurriculum activities: changes in wartime, 42; gains and losses in, 52; policy of school systems with respect to, 47

Featherstone, W. B.: referred to, 61, 63, 86
Federal aid: national interest and support for public education, 111–12; S. 637 referred to, 4
Flora, A. C.: referred to, 109

Germane, C. E.: referred to, 86
Germane, E. G.: referred to, 86
Givens, Willard E.: forewords by, 4, 28, 60, 92
Gossard, Arthur P.: referred to, 86
Graham, Ben G.: referred to, 86
Gray, William S.: referred to, 78
Greene, Harry A.: referred to, 86
Guidance: bases for placement and, 85; for slow-learning pupils, 74; ways in which it differs from that provided for average pupils, 78

Health: physical characteristics of mentally retarded pupils, 62
Heck, Arch O.: referred to, 86
Hess, Walter E.: referred to, 86
Homogeneous grouping: ability grouping and special classes, 71–73; a flexible plan of ability grouping, 71–72; grouping based on achievement and age, 71; unusual plan of homeroom grouping, 72–73

Ingram, Christine P.: referred to, 61, 63, 86
Inskeep, Annie D.: referred to, 86
Instruction, classroom: characteristics of, 84–85; child-care and home-apprenticeship project, 82–83; in consumer science, 81; in English for slow learners, 78–79; in home economics for low-IQ girls, 82–83; in mathematics for slow learners, 81–82; in social studies for slow learners, 79–81; modified home economics courses in junior high school, 82; varied program in the industrial field, 83; vocational training for slow learners, 83; ways in which it differs from that provided for average pupils, 78; "work service" program for slow learners, 83

Kennedy-Fraser, David: referred to, 86
Kirk, Samuel A.: referred to, 86

Little Steel Formula: referred to, 97

Marking systems: for slow-learning pupils, 75
Martens, Elise H.: referred to, 86
Mentally handicapped children: See Slow learners in high school
Merrill, Maud A.: referred to, 61

National Education Association: advocates a minimum requirement of four years of college preparation for teaching service, 100
National Education Association, American Association of School Administrators: Twenty-First Yearbook quoted, 49
National Education Association, Committee on Economic Status of the Rural Teacher: referred to, 95
National Education Association, Committee on the Economic Status of the Teacher: referred to, 95
National Education Association, Department of Elementary School Principals: salary schedule proposed by Committee on Standards in 1928, 14
National Education Association, Executive Committee: wartime policy on school salaries by, 109
National Education Association, Research Bulletin: referred to, 63, 65, 100
National Education Association, Research Division: acknowledges assistance in preparation of report, 87; biennial salary surveys since 1922–23, 5; schools and current economic trends release referred to, 95; Special Salary Tabulations referred to, 4
National Education Association and American Association of School Administrators, Educational Policies Commission: report quoted, 56
National Organization for Public Health Nursing: source of information, 100
National Society for the Study of Education: Thirty-Fifth Yearbook referred to, 86; Thirty-Ninth Yearbook referred to, 86
National War Labor Board: referred to, 97
New Rochelle, New York, Leonard Junior High School: grouping based on achievement and age of pupils, 71

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Tilden Junior High School: a plan of partial segregation for slow pupils, 71
Portenier, Lillian G.: referred to, 86
Principals: distribution of salaries paid in 1942–43, 14–15; opinions concerning the education of slow learners, 64–65; report on school provisions for slow learners, 66–70
Pritchard, Miriam C.: referred to, 86
Public Health Nursing: source of information, 114

Questionnaire: on provisions for slow learners, 63

References: on slow learners in high school, 86

S. 637: referred to, 4
Salaries of city school employees, 1942–43: comparisons between positions and levels, 20; distribution of salaries paid certain administrative and supervisory officers, 16–

Research Bulletin

OF THE

National Education Association

INDEX TO VOLUME XXI, 1943

Acceleration: attendance and discipline problems decreased, 72; of slow learners, 72
Acknowledgment: of special assistance in preparation of Research Bulletin on "High-School Methods with Slow Learners," 87
Administrative and supervisory officers: distribution of salaries paid in 1942–43, 16–17; median salaries paid, 20–21
Amherst, Massachusetts, Six-Year High School: provisions for slow learners, 68

Bennett, Margaret E.: referred to, 86
Bergstresser, J. L.: referred to, 86
Billett, Roy O.: referred to, 86
Blair, Glenn M.: referred to, 86
Brooklyn, New York, Bay Ridge High School: curriculum for slow learners, 70
Buros, Oscar K.: referred to, 63, 86
Burt, Cyril: referred to, 61, 86

Columbus, Ohio, Mound Junior High School: provisions for mentally and physically handicapped pupils, 68–69
Cost of living: indexes of, 101, 115
Creamer, Daniel: referred to, 112
Curriculum: and instruction—school provisions for slow learners, 76–83; for slow learners, 84; frequency of changes in, 41; general scope and character of the curriculum for slow learners, 76–78; improvement in certain school departments, 50–51; in individual schools for slow learners, 76–77; instruction in specific curriculum areas, 78–83; need for a modified school program, 84; number of school systems making changes in, 41; percent of school systems making changes in, 41; readjustments in wartime, 41–42. See also Slow learners in high school

Detroit, Michigan, Northern High School: provisions for exceptional children, 69–70
Douglass, Harl A.: referred to, 86
Dunlop, Florence S.: referred to, 86

Education: expenditures for, 105-106; should advance, not retreat, 94
Elicker, Paul E.: referred to, 86
Enrolment: drop in high-school, one year after war, 30; little change in elementary, one year after war, 30
Expenditures: consumer expenditures for goods and services, 106, 107, 117; for public education for certain years, 118; school expenditures, 1941–42, 119
Extracurriculum activities: changes in wartime, 42; gains and losses in, 52; policy of school systems with respect to, 47

Featherstone, W. B.: referred to, 61, 63, 86
Federal aid: national interest and support for public education, 111–12; S. 637 referred to, 4
Flora, A. C.: referred to, 109

Germane, C. E.: referred to, 86
Germane, E. G.: referred to, 86
Givens, Willard E.: forewords by, 4, 28, 60, 92
Gossard, Arthur P.: referred to, 86
Graham, Ben G.: referred to, 86
Gray, William S.: referred to, 78
Greene, Harry A.: referred to, 86
Guidance: bases for placement and, 85; for slow-learning pupils, 74; ways in which it differs from that provided for average pupils, 78

Health: physical characteristics of mentally retarded pupils, 62
Heck, Arch O.: referred to, 86
Hess, Walter E.: referred to, 86
Homogeneous grouping: ability grouping and special classes, 71–73; a flexible plan of ability grouping, 71–72; grouping based on achievement and age, 71; unusual plan of homeroom grouping, 72–73

Ingram, Christine P.: referred to, 61, 63, 86
Inskeep, Annie D.: referred to, 86
Instruction, classroom: characteristics of, 84–85; child-care and home-apprenticeship project, 82–83; in consumer science, 81; in English for slow learners, 78–79; in home economics for low-IQ girls, 82–83; in mathematics for slow learners, 81–82; in social studies for slow learners, 79–81; modified home economics courses in junior high school, 82; varied program in the industrial field, 83; vocational training for slow learners, 83; ways in which it differs from that provided for average pupils, 78; "work service" program for slow learners, 83

Kennedy-Fraser, David: referred to, 86
Kirk, Samuel A.: referred to, 86

Little Steel Formula: referred to, 97

Marking systems: for slow-learning pupils, 75
Martens, Elise H.: referred to, 86
Mentally handicapped children: See Slow learners in high school
Merrill, Maud A.: referred to, 61

National Education Association: advocates a minimum requirement of four years of college preparation for teaching service, 100
National Education Association, American Association of School Administrators: Twenty-First Yearbook quoted, 49
National Education Association, Committee on Economic Status of the Rural Teacher: referred to, 95
National Education Association, Committee on the Economic Status of the Teacher: referred to, 95
National Education Association, Department of Elementary School Principals: salary schedule proposed by Committee on Standards in 1928, 14
National Education Association, Executive Committee: wartime policy on school salaries by, 109
National Education Association, Research Bulletin: referred to, 63, 65, 100
National Education Association, Research Division: acknowledges assistance in preparation of report, 87; biennial salary surveys since 1922–23, 5; schools and current economic trends release referred to, 95; Special Salary Tabulations referred to, 4
National Education Association and American Association of School Administrators, Educational Policies Commission: report quoted, 56
National Organization for Public Health Nursing: source of information, 100
National Society for the Study of Education: Thirty-Fifth Yearbook referred to, 86; Thirty-Ninth Yearbook referred to, 86
National War Labor Board: referred to, 97
New Rochelle, New York, Leonard Junior High School: grouping based on achievement and age of pupils, 71

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Tilden Junior High School: a plan of partial segregation for slow pupils, 71
Portenier, Lillian G.: referred to, 86
Principals: distribution of salaries paid in 1942–43, 14–15; opinions concerning the education of slow learners, 64–65; report on school provisions for slow learners, 66–70
Pritchard, Miriam C.: referred to, 86
Public Health Nursing: source of information, 114

Questionnaire: on provisions for slow learners, 63

References: on slow learners in high school, 86

S. 637: referred to, 4
Salaries of city school employees, 1942–43: comparisons between positions and levels, 20; distribution of salaries paid certain administrative and supervisory officers, 16–

17; distribution of salaries paid other school employees, 19; distribution of salaries paid principals, 14–15; distribution of salaries paid secretarial and clerical employees, 18; distribution of salaries paid teachers, 12–13; forms and definitions used in collecting data, 23; median salaries paid administrative and supervisory employees in cities over 30,000 in population, 20; median salaries paid administrative and supervisory employees in cities under 30,000 in population, 21; median salaries paid and index relationships, 1930–31 and 1942–43, 20–21; median salaries paid attendance officers in cities over 30,000 in population, 20; median salaries paid attendance officers in cities under 30,000 in population, 21; median salaries paid elementary teachers in cities under 30,000 in population, 21; median salaries paid janitors in cities over 30,000 in population, 20; median salaries paid janitors in cities under 30,000 in population, 21; median salaries paid kindergarten and elementary teachers in cities over 30,000 in population, 20; median salaries paid nurses in cities over 30,000 in population, 20; median salaries paid nurses in cities under 30,000 in population, 21; median salaries paid principals in cities over 30,000 in population, 20; median salaries paid principals in cities under 30,000 in population, 21; median salaries paid secretaries and clerical employees in cities over 100,000 in population, 20; median salaries paid secretaries and clerical employees in cities under 30,000 in population, 21; median salaries paid superintendents in cities over 30,000 in population, 20; median salaries paid superintendents of schools in cities under 30,000 in population, 21; median, term of, explained, 6; method of making survey, 5; number of school systems included in study, 5; range and distribution of, 12; sample section from questionnaire form, 23; size of sample, 5; status of salary scheduling, 22; trends in elementary-school teachers' salaries, 1930–31 to 1942–43, 11; trends in high-school teachers' salaries, 1930–31 to 1942–43, 11; trends in salaries paid, 1930–31 to 1942–43, in cities of various population groups, 6–10. See also Salary schedules; Teachers' salaries and the public welfare

Salary schedules: extent to which bonuses or special salary increases were paid, 1942–43, 22; extent to which city school salary schedules were operative and in full effect in 1942–43, 22; number of, 22; number of city school systems reporting various types of, in 1942–43, 23; number of classroom teachers being paid according to various types of salary schedules in city school systems, 118; percent of city teachers under salary schedules, 109; status of, 22; type of, 22. See also Salaries of city school employees, 1942–43

Schwartz, Charles F.: referred to, 112.

Secretarial and clerical employees: distribution of salaries paid in 1942–43, 18

Selective Service: referred to, 103

Slow learners in high school: a flexible plan of ability grouping, 71–72; a plan of partial segregation, 71; ability grouping and special classes, 71–73; accelerated classes for, 72; achievement and age grouping, 71; appraisal of, 63; bases for placement and guidance, 85; bases used in selecting teachers for slow learners in schools having separate classes or curriculums, 73; characteristics of, 61; characteristics of instruction, 84–85; concluding statement, 84–85; curriculum for slow learners, 84; curriculums in individual schools, 76–77; definitions of slow learners, 61; effects of excessive failure and retardation in school, 84; emotional and moral traits of, 62; general provisions made in three types of cooperating high schools, 67; general scope and character of the curriculum for slow learners, 76–78; identification of, 63; information used in guiding pupils, 74; instruction in specific curriculum areas, 78–83; intellectual capacities of, 61; kinds of information which receive careful consideration in meeting the individual needs of, 74; modified marking systems, 75; motor abilities, 62; need for a modified school program, 84; need for better school practice, 85; opinions of principals concerning the education of, 64–66; percents of cooperating high schools having separate classes for slow learners in individual subject fields, 71; physical characteristics of slow learners, 62; practices in selected schools, 68; qualifications of teachers, 85; school provisions—curriculum and instruction, 76–83; school provisions—organization and administration, 64–75; scope and procedure of study of, 63; separate classes, 65–66, 85; social development of, 62; summary of local practices in class instruction, 77–78; summary of questionnaire replies, 66–68; teaching personnel, 73–74; unusual plan of homeroom grouping, 72–73; ways in which classroom instruction or guidance differ from that provided for average pupils, 78. See also Instruction, classroom

Smith-Hughes Law: referred to, 76

Special classes: a plan of partial segregation, 71; ability grouping and special classes, 71–73; bases for placement and guidance of slow learners, 85; effect of school size, 68; for slow learners, 65–66, 85; percents of cooperating high schools having one or more separate classes for slow learners in individual subject fields, 71. See also Slow learners in high school

Stoddard, George D.: referred to, 86

Strayer, George D.: quoted, 120

Survey of Current Business: source of information, 106, 107

Taxation: local, state, and federal tax collections, 1939, 1941, 1942, 108; state and local taxes are static, 108

Teachers: cannot meet professional needs, 95; changes in attitudes and activities in wartime of, 42; number of temporary certificates issued, 103; of slow learners, qualifications of, 73–74, 85; professional preparation required of, 100

Teachers' salaries and the public welfare: annual income from salaries and wages for factory workers, 1938–1943, 98; annual income from salaries and wages for federal employees, 1938–1943, 98; annual income from salaries and wages for teachers, 1938–1943, 98; average annual earnings for all public employees, 100, 102; average annual earnings for federal employees, 100, 102; average annual earnings for lawyers, 100, 102; average annual earnings for physicians, 100, 102; average annual earnings for veterinarians, 100; average annual earnings of factory workers, 100, 102; average annual earnings of public health nurses, 100; average annual earnings of teachers, 100, 102; average annual salary of teachers, supervisors, and principals, 115; average salaries paid, 92, 95; consumer expenditures for goods and services, 1939, 106; consumer expenditures for goods and services, 1942 (in 1939 dollars), 107; decline in supply of qualified teachers, 103–104; distribution of public-school teachers, supervisors, principals, and superintendents according to annual salary, 114; estimated distribution of consumer expenditures for goods and services, 117; estimated per capita annual earnings in certain occupations, 1938–1943, 114; estimated percent of teachers paid less than $600 and less than $1200 in 1943–44, 96; income payments, 1942, 119; index of wage rates of all employed persons, 115; indexes of cost of living, 1913–1943, 115; indexes of wage rates, teachers' salaries, and living costs, 101; inequality in average salaries, 110; local management and support, 109–10; local, state, and federal action needed, 109–12; local, state, and federal tax collections, 1939, 1941, 1942, 108; lost battalions thru educational unpreparedness, 104; low salaries and emergency certificates, 116; national income and expenditures for public education for certain years, 1920–1942, 118; national income and public education costs, 105; national income is high, 106; national interest and support, 111; number of classroom teachers being paid according to various types of salary schedules in city school systems, 118; other groups fare better, 97; percent of city teachers under salary schedules, 109; population aged five thru seventeen years, 1940, 119; professional preparation of teachers, 100; public education should advance, 94; purchasing power of average salaries and wages for factory workers, 1938–1943, 99; purchasing power of average salaries and wages for federal employees, 1938–1943, 99; purchasing power of average salaries and wages for teachers, 1938–1943, 99; recent trends in volume of local, state, and federal tax collections, 118; salaries are declining in value, 95; salaries can be raised—now, 93, 105–108; salaries paid public-school classroom teachers, principals, supervisors, and superintendents, 94; salaries should be raised—now, 103–104; school expenditures are low, 105; school expenditures, 1941–42, 119; state and local taxes are static, 108; state responsibility and support, 110–11; teachers' salaries are too low, 95–102; teachers' salaries—in dollars paid and in buying power, 97; teachers' salaries in 1920 versus levels of schooling in 1940, 116; urban versus rural salaries for teachers, 1929–30 and 1939–40, 118; why emphasize teachers' salaries?, 93–94; why some states have poor schools, 111

Tests: for mentally backward pupils, 63

Trends: in enrolments, 30–31; in length of school terms, 33–34; in number of teaching positions, 31–32; in school building facilities, 36–37; in school expenditures, 34; in school support, 33–34; in teachers' salaries, 1930–31 to 1942–43, 6–11; recent trends in volume of local, state, and federal tax collections, 118; toward increase in pupil absences, 32–33

U. S. Civil Service Commission: source of information, 114

U. S. Department of Agriculture: source of information, 101

U. S. Department of Commerce: referred to, 105; source of information, 99, 100, 106, 107, 111

U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census: source of information, 5, 104

U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce: referred to, 99, 107, 108, 112; source of information, 114

U. S. Department of Labor: source of information, 101, 114

U. S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics: referred to, 97

U. S. Office of Education: referred to, 100, 105; source of information, 94, 98, 99, 101, 103, 104, 110, 111, 114, 115
U. S. Treasury Department, Committee on Intergovernmental Fiscal Relations: source of information, 108

War, nation's schools after a year of: administrative adjustments, 37–39; attitude toward government, 53; breaking of contracts by teachers, 45; changes and adjustments, 37–43; changes in attitudes and activities of pupils and teachers, 42; changes in extracurriculum activities, 42; changes in relationships and morale, 43; changes in the character of professional staffs, December 1942 and December 1941, 32; comments on current problems, 44; current expenditures, 1942–43 and 1941–42, 34; curriculum readjustments, 41; decline in number of teaching positions, 31; departments and services curtailed or discontinued, 40; effect of war on extracurriculum activities, 42; enrolment trends in elementary and secondary schools, December 1942 and December 1941, 30–31; enrolment trends in various types of schools and classes, December 1942 and December 1941, 30; evaluation of school systems, 50–54; expenditures for capital outlay, 34; extracurriculum program, 52; financial problems, 47; frequency of certain curriculum changes, 41; frequency of expansion or introduction of certain services, 39; frequency of pupil participation in certain war activities, 42; frequency with which administrative adjustments have been made, 37; gains and losses in pupil morale, 51–52; gains and losses in teacher morale, 51; gains and losses in teaching efficiency, 51; gains in school departments and services, 51; gains reported by school systems, 53; guidance, 54; home life, 52; improvement in instructional program in certain school departments, 50–51; incidence of suggested problems, 44; increase in number of substitute teachers, 31; irregular attendance, 47; juvenile delinquency, 47; length of school terms, 33–34; limitations of report, 29; loss in men teachers, 31; maintaining adequate pupil transportation, 48; maintaining staff morale, 46; married women reemployed, 31; noncertificated employees hard to hold or replace, 48; number and percent of school systems in which certain problems are now serious, 45; number of days schools closed because of rationing, 39; number of days schools closed for pupils to work on farms, 39; number of school systems expanding or introducing various departments or services, 40; number of school systems making administrative adjustments, 38; number of school systems making various changes in curriculum, 41; number of school systems represented in study, 29; organization of bulletin on, 29; overload on school administrators, 49; percent of change in aggregate number of positions or employees of various types, December 1942 and December 1941, 31; percent of school systems expanding or introducing various departments or services, 40; percent of school systems making administrative adjustments, 38; percent of school systems making various changes in curriculum, 41; personnel administration and supervision, 45; policy of school systems with respect to extracurriculum activities, 47; problem of federal policy, 49; problems in business administration, 48; problems of the school program, 46; problems relating to pupils, 47; procedure followed in bulletin on, 29; public relations, 48, 52; pupil absences and work permits issued during comparable one-month periods, 1941 and 1942, 33; pupils' out-of-school work, 52; relative significance of various current problems, 44; school attendance, 32–33; school finance, 52; school housing, 52; school housing facilities, 35–36; scope of bulletins on, 29; serious current problems, 44; significant losses reported by school systems, 52–53; teacher shortages, 44–45, 53; teaching loads, 46; tenure for new employees, 45; turnover in teaching staff, 44–45; wider teacher participation in community affairs, 43; work permits issued, 33

Wilmington, Delaware, Bancroft Junior High School: a flexible plan of ability grouping, 71–72